Further Furniture Facts

OU can't tell whether you're getting a bargain or not until you see the goods. Prices in themselves are not conclusive. In reading the following detail, please do so with

That the selection of this furniture for our February sale has been made from the offerings of only well-known and reliable makers, whose names are in themselves guarantees of worth and workmanship:

That the sale-list includes a number of pieces of the magnificent "hand-made" furniture recently described to you, and which is admittedly the finest made in this country, outside of the highest class custom work:

That the Brass and Iron Bedsteads are taken from our regular stock,—and you know what that is.

Low prices, certainly,—low enough to make you sus-picious of qualities, perhaps, if it were not this store which was offering them. But beside low prices,—above and beyond the mere element of little figures,—the furniture is good furniture, and in many cases the best furniture which money will buy.

Now read the prices.

The Difference Between 88 and 100

IF your eyes are sufficiently keen to distinguish between a cloth having 100 threads to the inch, and one having 88, you can tell at a glance the difference between the ginghams we are selling at

and the best ginghams made in the world. Can you do it? There's no other difference than this one of threads per inch. The patterns are just as good,—in fact practically identical. But the other costs 25c. a yard,—35c. a yard if it is Scotch.

These are now regular 12 1-2c. goods, but probably more familiar to you as the kind which ruled at 20c. a yard for some years. We sold 19,765 yards of them yesterday at 81-2c. There remain of the lot something less than 57,000 yards, not enough for three days' selling, for to-day's selling will be larger than yesterday's. Don't be too late.

New Lot An interesting disof Children's play of pretty garments in the Chilof moderately-priced percale and We found more broken lots than we gingham dresses for tots 2 to 4 years of age.
